What can I do?

You didn't make this world full of plastic. It is now. It's all around you and in the people who come after you.

Nobody designed it this way deliberately. And there are things we can do.

Three things. Any one of them matters. All three together is the point.

1 Vote.

Every election. Every level. It is the oldest tool and the one they fear most. Vote for whoever is most committed to acting on the evidence. If none of them are, make that the reason you talk.

2 Take the Threshold poll.

Go to thresholdsummit.org. Answer one question about power and accountability. Your answer joins millions of others. This is not a petition. It is a count, and a count at scale cannot be ignored the way a petition can.

3 Write your Pledge.

In your own words. Write to your unborn grandchildren.

Tell them what you knew, particularly about the consequences of plastic and when you knew. What you did, and what you did not do. What you felt and what you hope, in spite of everything, they will inherit.

Seal it with your mark. It will be held in the Threshold Knowledge Base, protected and permanent, until the threshold is crossed, or until the year you choose to have it opened and by whom.

No membership. No fee. No one tells you what to think.

What you write is yours. What we build together, none of us could build alone.
